

HUERTA WARNED HE MUST YIELD TO INSURE PEACE

Bryan Declares No Concession
Will Be Made to Give Him
Control in Mexico.

CRISIS IN MEDIATION.

Fear That a Deadlock Has Been Reached That Cannot Be Broken.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The fate of Mexican mediation will be definitely settled Friday, it is believed in official circles here. In the mean time the conference at Niagara Falls has adjourned, so Ambassador Bacon may go to take honorary degrees at Yale and Harvard. While he is absent the American and Mexican delegates will meet informally in a final effort to break what seems to be a hopeless deadlock over the man who is to succeed Huerta.

Huerta has signified his own intention to refuse acceptance of any plan to put an out-and-out Constitutional in the office of Provisional President of Mexico, and the United States is unwilling that a man of any other type should be chosen. Hence the deadlock.

Carranza is no longer being considered by the mediators as a party to the principle at Niagara Falls. The fact that he has yesterday in reply to Carranza from him ignoring the armistice condition is regarded as finally settling the question in the mediation discussions.

Secretary Bryan says, however, there are no changes in the situation and that he is hopeful, but he is known to have sent a long message to the American delegates instructing them that the United States refuses to make any concessions and that Huerta must have the word in the selection of his successor.

It is in the confidence of the Constitution already said to-day that the mediators' telegram to Carranza closed the door to any other overture. Hence they considered it left no room for any further action. It is believed that the United States is not prepared to accept Carranza as a representative of Mexico, even in an unofficial capacity.

John Yonahides and his wife, Mrs. Yonahides, who are in the city, have been advised to go to Niagara Falls, left for the city in the afternoon for the purpose of obtaining the release of Carranza. Carranza is in the city, even in an unofficial capacity.

SPECIAL HONORS FOR 11 MARINES IN VERA CRUZ FIGHT.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Eleven Marines have been recommended to Secretary Daniels for special recognition for their services at Vera Cruz.

For extraordinary heroism in battle, Admiral Fletcher recommended 11 Marines, including a third class, for medals of honor and a gratuity of $100 gold.

These medals will be presented to the 11 Marines in recognition of "conspicuous acts of valor." Sergeant Tracy Baker, Corporal W. B. White, privates W. S. Harwood, E. H. Fullerton, T. J. East, W. H. Briggs, J. L. Strattenberger, W. S. Barton, Sergeant Miller and Corporal Edwards.

FROST TO-NIGHT! SEND FOR YOUR OVERCOAT NOW

Another Hot Wave Coming,
But It Will Be Cool
Until Friday.

Farmers, gardeners and fruit growers on Long Island, in New Jersey and throughout New England have something to worry about to-day. A cold wave is moving in from the north, and frost is predicted for to-night in low places and in the open country. The temperature was 43 at noon. Weather Forecaster Scarr said he looked for a drop and a regular chill after sundown. The frost, if it comes, will be light, but it is likely to be damaging in spots where moisture has collected from the heavy rain of last night.

Early this morning before the sun dried up the moisture the temperature in New York was 30 degrees. We were one of the coldest communities in the United States at that hour. The stiff northwest wind had a chill in it that prompted yearnings for overcoats and warm clothing. The ladies, whose apparel in these times is extremely scant, felt the cold but didn't show it. They never show the effects of cold or heat.

The wind will have died down to sphyrr-like proportions by evening, and it is anticipated that there will be little air stirring to-night, this condition making for the predicted frost. Cool, invigorating weather prevails from the Mississippi Valley to the Atlantic seaboard.

The high barometer area, which has caused the reduction in temperature, is moving eastward and will have passed out to sea by to-morrow, when we shall be on the threshold of another hot wave. But comfortable weather conditions may be looked for until Friday or Saturday.

BILL, THE BOATMAN, CAN'T NAVIGATE COW

Stands by With Line Over Horns,
But Casts Off When Towed
Down the Bay.

"Honest Bill" Quigley, the Battery boatman and hero of one encounter with a swimming steer which jumped overboard from a freighter, found a cow he couldn't navigate to-day when he went out to row to South Brooklyn. Neither Bill nor any one else seems to know how the cow got into the water, but Bill came on it swimming off Red Hook and got a line over its horns.

Bill is some carman, but pull as he would he couldn't move the cow, which evinced a desire to swim out to sea and, with visions of salvage in mind, Bill let the cow tow him down the bay till he and his motive power were off Staten Island.

A stiff wind was kicking up a high sea and Bill didn't raise the prospect of going to sea with the cow. He put all his strength into a last effort to check the cow's progress, but when he felt himself drawn irresistibly backward he cast off his line and rested on his oars while he watched the cow head out toward Sandy Hook. The last Bill saw of the cow it was a speck on the horizon.

Taxi Chauffeur's Excuse Good. Walter M. Burlingame, a taxi chauffeur of No. 133 Albany avenue, Brooklyn, who was caught speeding along Flatbush avenue on May 27, was discharged by Magistrate Voorhees in the Butler Street Court to-day. He exhibited a letter from Dr. Charles A. Brown of No. 135 Halway street, who said that Burlingame had been speeding at his direction taking a member of Brown's named Bellinger to the Grand Central station after Bellinger had become seriously ill.

Daughter of Wizard Edison, Fiance She Is to Wed To-Morrow

MISS MADELEINE
EDISON
Bride-elect

Miss Madeleine Edison and her fiancé, John Eyre Sloane, who are to be married at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, Glenmont, Llewellyn Park, Orange, N. J., to-morrow afternoon entertained the members of the bride party at a dinner dance last night. The dinner was served in the lower pavilion of the Casino on the crest of Eagle Rock, the highest point of the Orange Mountains, overlooking New York. After dinner a few more friends of the bride and groom were invited for dancing in the upper pavilion. The whole Casino was decorated with Japanese lanterns, spring flowers and palms.

WIND-TOSSED RIBBONS WRAP WOMAN AND MAN IN A CLOSE EMBRACE

Crowds in Park Row Roar
With Laughter Over a Novel Struggle.

A large number of parcels surrounding a squatty woman attempted passage to the Municipal Building to the City Hall during the morning's sale. The wind was north by east by northeast sometimes; and then it frisked about to north, east, south and west with the abandon of a bull pup.

The baby gale began escorting the woman and her bundle-balls as soon as she left the Municipal Building curb. First it nibbled at the largest bundle and ripped a big hole in it. From within poured paper flowers and they formed spiral tributes mounting toward the top of the nearby buildings.

"Oh, help me!" cried the woman. Her hair was down and her hat tilted. An aged man dropped his cane to lend first aid. Off went his hat. He looked at the woman, at the bundles, at the heaven-borne flowers and then at his hat. He was a gentleman.

"Til with the hat," he said, and went to the aid of the woman. A newsboy chasing the hat forgot to anchor his papers and some of them were distributed free on the arms, legs, necks and faces of passers by. The hat of the gentleman dodged through the crowd, the newsboy chasing it. Once it got lost at the bottom of a woman's skirt, but was released and moved onward.

On went the boy across the sidewalk of Park Row at the City Hall. The hat missed two trolley cars, a lead, a mail wagon. These vehicles also missed the boy. But he kept on—a cheering crowd of his kind at his heels.

At the entrance to the Brooklyn Bridge the boy caught up with the hat and fell. Alas for the hat. It was of straw. During the hat chase the woman and her rescuer were struggling with the wind. A second bundle flew open and disgorged green, yellow and blue ribbons. With May-pole-like playfulness they wound themselves about the woman and her rescuer. A hat-holding, arched crowd stood by and roared.

The rescuer grabbed his cane and tried to wrench himself free. In doing so he ripped another bundle and more flowers mingled with ribbons. "Take that, you old slob!" said the woman above the whistle of the wind, as she turned on the gentleman with the cane.

Grabbing his stick, the rescuer twisted until he was free of ribbons and flowers and fled. Still clutching one still intact bundle and a bunch of tangled ribbons, the woman departed, the angriest looking female in New York.

GETS JOB OF BUILDING PART OF NEW SUBWAY

Public Service Commission Provides for Construction in Lexington Avenue.

The Rapid Transit Subway Construction Company, a subsidiary company of the Interborough, to-day got the contract from the Public Service Commission for the construction of the Lexington avenue subway between Forty-third and Fifty-third streets, at $1,915,164.50, the lowest of six bids received for the work. This work does not include the construction of the diagonal connection to be made between the present subway on Fourth avenue near Thirty-third street and the Lexington avenue line. This latter section will be let separately.

Bids for the construction of the section of the new subway beginning at the terminus of the present subway at Atlantic and Flatbush avenues, Brooklyn, to a point near St. Marks avenue were opened. The plan calls for a two, four and six tracked railroad. On the four-track section there will be a local station at Bergen street, and on the two-track section there will be a station extending northward from Atlantic avenue, Brooklyn. The Crawford Company was the lowest bidder at $2,156,000, and the Underpinning and Foundation Company the highest at $2,998,254.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court gave the commission authority to build the Gravesend Avenue Rapid Transit Railroad in Brooklyn. This is the route for the elevated railroad connection with the fourth avenue subway over the Culver line of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit system. The consents of property owners along the route were not obtained, and the commission was obliged to apply to the court.

FRAWLEY AT LAST IS BEING BOUNCED ON BOUNDING DEEP

Irish Senator Aboard German
Ship Is Pale but Determined.

IN GRIP OF HIS FRIENDS.

Try to Cheer Tammany Leader
With Gift of Watch, but He Can't Speak.

Some 200 miles out on the Atlantic Ocean there is a statesman in deep distress to-day. He is Senator James J. Frawley, Tammany leader of the Twenty-third Assembly District, and he is aboard the North German Lloyd steamship Kronprinzessin Cecilie bound for Bremen.

It required all the physical and moral courage in the Senator's make-up to get him aboard the steamship at Hoboken last night. All his life he has had a thorough fear of the water. Time after time he has arranged to travel to or from Albany on one of the big river boats and has talked at the last minute. He has never gone to Coney on one of the iron steamboats and has never gone aboard a boat on a Tammany outing.

For several years he has wanted to go abroad. It was not until his colleague, Senator Murtagh of Elmira, and Assemblyman Al Smith got at him a few weeks ago that he decided to cross the ocean, but his decision was not fixed.

Late yesterday afternoon, after a tremendous struggle with himself, Senator Frawley announced to his wife that he had made up his mind he was going. Accommodations had been engaged on the Kronprinzessin Cecilie. The Frawley baggage was sent to the pier and the word that the Senator was sailing went around the district.

About one hundred members of the Wichita Club, the Tammany organization of the district, escorted Senator Frawley to the Hoboken pier in automobiles. The party went to one of the saloons where the Senator, pale but determined, was lined up for the leave-taking.

Supreme Court Justice Donnelly stepped forward and in a reassuring speech presented the Senator with a magnificent aluminum watch, a token from his friends. Senator Frawley for the first time in his life was unable to make a fluent speech. But he managed to express his thanks and said goodbye to the crowd.

His secretary, Tom Clark, and Charley Harvey, were left aboard the ship until the last minute to guard against any rush for the shore. As the Cecilie backed out into the North River Senators Frawley and Murtagh and their wives were seen at the rail and Senator Murtagh, possibly anticipating a jump overboard, was the last Frawley message, "but it's going to be worse coming back, because I'll have to come back."

Sensor Frawley and Senator Murtagh, four German, Austria, Switzerland, France, England and Ireland. They will return to New York about Sept. 1.

AQUITANIA'S FAST TRIP.

Lands 700 Passengers for London
at Flushing.

The officials of the Cunard Steamship line in this city received a cablegram to-day from the line's home office in Liverpool announcing the arrival of the Aquitania at Flushing after an ideal trip of five days. Word of the subsequent arrival of the steamer at Liverpool at 2 o'clock yesterday was also received. The cablegram was as follows:

"Aquitania arrived at Flushing at 4.40 A. M. to-day; average speed 24.4 knots; length 512 feet; 10,000 tons; 700 passengers, mails and specie. Largest number of passengers ever landed at Flushing, requiring five special trains for London. Ideal weather."

HAYES'S DISMISSAL UPHELD.

Court of Appeals Refuses to Reinstate Police Inspector.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 16.—The Court of Appeals to-day unanimously affirmed the order dismissing former Police Inspector Cornelius C. Hayes from the New York Police Department.

Hayes sought to be restored to the inspectorship from which he was discharged by Commissioner Waldo for making an alleged false statement. In an interview given a newspaperman about the time of the Rosenthal murder, Hayes declared he did not close his reputable house in his district because Waldo had told him not to do so.

CAPT. DENNIS RESIGNS AS SAILING MASTER OF SLOOP VANITIE

Harry Haff Said to Be New Skipper of the Cochran Cup Contender.

Capt. Bill Dennis is no longer the sailing master of the Cochran cup defense yacht Vanitie. Confirmation of the report that Capt. Dennis has resigned was obtained this afternoon at City Island, where the sloop is anchored. At the Robert Jacob shipyard one of those in charge ventured the information that Capt. Dennis was not around and that he was no longer in charge of the sloop.

At City Island the general impression is that Capt. Harry Haff would be at the wheel the next time the Vanitie starts in a trial race. Capt. Harry Haff is a veteran skipper. He served under Hank Haff, who successfully sailed defenders during the past twenty years.

Capt. Dennis is considered one of the most skillful skippers in the world, but it is said that the owners of the sloop were dissatisfied with the way the Vanitie was handled in the two races over the Sandy Hook course.

There was a report that Dennis took offense because Fred Hoyt, one of the amateurs aboard the Vanitie, was asked to take the wheel during the last trial race against the Resolute.

AGED FATHER FAINTS SEEKING DAUGHTER BENT ON LONG HIKE

Girl Hides Real Name at City Hall as She Starts on Walk to Boston.

"My daughter! My daughter! Has she been here?" cried a gray-bearded man, rushing up to Lieut. Kennel at the entrance to Mayor Mitchell's office to-day. "I have just read the paper that she has the walking fever and that she is going to walk to Boston."

Kennel told the aged man that a young woman who said she was a Miss Clarke had been to the Mayor's office for a letter introducing her to the Mayor of Boston, and had left.

"This is terrible!" exclaimed the visitor, and swooned in the lieutenant's arms. Upon being revived he said:

"She gave the name of Clarke to cover her identity. Her name is Goldstein and I am her father."

Goldstein is in the clothing business at Broadway and Tenth street. It was learned after he left that the young woman, who is eighteen, had been to the Mayor's office an hour before. She was accompanied by three young men. E. Stager Whittin, assistant secretary of Mayor Mitchell, received the girl and her companions and had a talk with them.

"The young woman told me her name was Clarke, so far as the public was concerned, and that she was on her way to Boston," said Whittin. "Well, if we cannot get the Mayor to give us a passport to Boston," laughed "Miss Clarke," "we will go it without the passport, and I guess we'll get there, won't we boys?"

"You bet," echoed the youths and the quartette left the City Hall. The father of the girl says he will have detectives watch every road to Boston.

NEW HIBERNIAN MORTGAGE.

Court Permits One for $100,000 On Its Property.

Supreme Court Justice Greenbaum to-day granted an order permitting the Ancient Order of Hibernians to mortgage its property at Fifth avenue and One Hundred and Sixteenth street for $100,000.

The first mortgage, to secure payment of $100,000, will go to M. M. Warburg of Hamburg, Germany. The second, for $25,000, will be held by Max Kohre, of 41 Canal street. The two mortgages are to replace one for $60,000 due the Mutual Life Insurance Company, and a building loan mortgage for $75,000 now a lien upon the said premises.

HOUSES FALLING IN STORM-RUINED STREETS OF PARIS

Eight Persons Found Dead as More Undermined Buildings Collapse.

PARIS, June 16.—Several more buildings collapsed in various parts of Paris to-day owing to subsidence of the soil caused by yesterday's terrific storm. A number of persons were injured to-day and the list of known dead was officially stated to be eight, but as reports said more persons were missing the search of the debris was continued, machinery being used to hasten the work.

The Minister of the Interior brought the situation to the attention of the Government and urged the necessity of measures being taken to prevent a repetition of the occurrences.

Three bodies were recovered to-day from a deep hole left by yesterday's cave-in at the junction of the Rue du Havre and the Boulevard Hausmann, near the Saint-Lazare station.

The courtyard of a hotel in the Rue Pierre-Guérin at Montmartre fell in to-day, but there were no casualties. In another locality the walls of a building under construction collapsed and two workmen were seriously injured.

Parts of Paris presented scenes of devastation to-day with gaping holes in some of the main thoroughfares as the result of the subsidence caused by the storm, while the population of the entire city was deprived of water, gas and electricity, cut off as a precautionary measure against floods, explosions and fires.

Strict precautions were taken to prevent the public approaching spots where there was danger of further subsidence owing to washouts caused by burst sewers and water mains. Many streets were barred to wheeled traffic entirely while police kept back pedestrians to a safe distance.

A street collapsed early to-day in the northern district of Montmartre behind the great cemetery, far from the other cave-ins. People in the vicinity hurried away as the ground began to sink and all managed to escape.

When communications with the suburbs had been partially restored to-day it was learned that fruit and vegetable growers had suffered enormous damage from the storm.

Rain ceased later in the day, but the weather continued threatening.

HER DEATH NOT DUE TO TYPHOID SERUM

Health Department Now Satisfied
That Miss Mercer Had Fatal
Illness Before Inoculated.

In a statement issued to-day the Health Department disclaims liability for the death of Mrs. Catherine Emma Mercer of No. 20 Crescent place, Brooklyn, yesterday. Mrs. Mercer had been inoculated with typhoid serum, and because of the strong reaction exhibited she was kept in bed. Her death was due to the immunizing process of the Health Department.

The department's investigation has satisfied the officials, the report says, that death was due to typhoid contracted before an immunizing infection was made, and that the latter was in no way responsible.

Mrs. Mercer's husband, Robert, contracted typhoid and died a few weeks ago, and just before his death Mrs. Mercer, her three children and her sister were immunized. All became ill and, according to the Health Department, it appears now that all had contracted the disease before efforts were made to prevent this.

CHARGES U. S. WITH BACKING FRAUDS ON NICARAGUA

Senator Smith Says Government Aids Bankers in Pushing Financial Schemes.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Charges that the United States kept its marines in Nicaragua to influence the recent presidential election, and that the State Department has been acting in the interest of American bankers, contained in a resolution introduced to-day by Senator Smith of Michigan, were referred to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The resolution charges that the State Department, through its control of Nicaraguan customs houses, has forced the republic to redeem at par $6,250,000 of bonds issued by Zelaya, later repudiated, and bought in at about 25 per cent of their face value by Brown Brothers and Bellman and Co., American bankers, interested in Nicaraguan financing.

"The sole beneficiaries of a fraud upon a friendly republic," says the resolution, "were the Brown Brothers, Bellman & Co. and Speyer & Co. and their allies."

The resolution also charges that the Nicaraguan national railway was sold much below its value to the bankers, and that the last election in Nicaragua was intentionally influenced by the presence of United States troops in violation of the treaty with Nicaragua.

Ernest H. Wanda, financial agent for Nicaragua, the resolution says, was designated by the State Department in the interest of the bankers.

James Speyer said to-day that Speyer & Co. had no connection with the Nicaragua loan and their name had been dragged in without warrant.

The firm had negotiated for the bonds at the time the loan was announced, but its bid had been rejected, and it is in no way concerned with the transaction.
